LOCAL ITEMS.

There was a heavy thunder storm on Wednesday night.

Operations are progressing on the Grand Trunk double track.

Now that the political campaign is over let us talk of picnics and moonlight excursions.

Mr. E. W. Scott's handsome new brick residence on Green street will soon be ready for occupancy.

Anglers are impatiently awaiting the opening of the season for bass, which will be on Monday, 16th inst.

The Streets Committee have had a number of men laying down a tile sewer on the west side of North Mill street.

Mr. A. E. Gracey has been making many improvements in the house adjoining his residence all rendering them very attractive.

The annual meeting of the Congregational Union of Ontario and Quebec began its sessions in Kingston on Wednesday, 4th inst.

Mr. Thomas Oliver, milkman, met with a mishap on Saturday by the upsetting of a vessel containing forty quarts of milk from his rig.

All the denizens of Dundas street appear to be vying with each other in the matter of decorating their premises with flower beds, awns, etc.

Mr. J. S. Dossie writing from Syracuse, N. Y., to renew his subscription and several encouraging and complimentary words for The Tribune.

Several valuable cattle in the Kingston district are dying off by apoplexy. The symptoms show about twenty-four hours after coming in.

A telephone has been placed in Malley's drug store and Dr. Vandervoort's office, so that both these establishments can be reached by patrons by that means.

There are complaints that several of the awnings in front of business establishments are so low that people knock their heads against them. The town fathers will apply a remedy.

Capt. Colwell, of the stmr. Caroline Marsh reports some very fast work by longshoremen at Oswego. His vessel was lightened of 240,000 lbs of lumber and reloaded with 445 tons of coal in just seven hours.

Messrs. D. R. Leavens and E. Brintnell have brought action against the Intelligencer Publishing Company, Belleville, for $10,000 each damages for publishing statements alleged to be against the character of these gentlemen.

Miss Patton, sister of the late Archdeacon Patton, has left Cornwall to take up her residence in Prescott. Before her departure she tendered a farewell reception to her friends at the rectory, the residence of Canon Pettit.

Mr. Philip Conley and family have removed to Toronto where they make their future home. They are followed with the best wishes of a large circle of friends who regret their removal. The town has lost a skillful mechanic, and good neighbors and citizens.

The taller of the two smoke stacks of the machine shops caught fire and burned out with a great blaze on Wednesday forenoon. Several of the flying cinders fell on the roof of the custom house and almost started a blaze, but streams from the machine shop dows drenched the roof and saved the custom house from a draft upon the Dominion Government for a $40,000 custom house and post office.

The Napane Express states that in 1893 the total assessment of Napane was $987,738; in 1889 it was $962,336 and for this year it is $940,286. In 1888 the population was $2,011, in 1889 it was $3,074, and in the present year is 3,137. The population of Deseronto, it will be seen by these figures of the Express, is now much greater than that of Napane. Now let us collar Trenton which is only a day's march ahead.

Mr. Thomas Stewart was greatly startled on Monday morning on learning that his famous old "Commodore Nuts" was missing. Having mysteriously disappeared during the night. It was at first thought that the colt was stolen but diligent search being instituted the animal was found in the neighborhood of Paterson's ferry. It is supposed that the colt's door was left open and the colt slipped his halter and effected his escape. Thomas has purchased a self-acting patent lock and the "Commodore" will enjoy no more wanderings of this character.

Egg Shakes.
While Mr. George E. Pearson was driving last Saturday to Napane with a load of eggs the wheels got into a deep rut and one box of eggs fell out and all were smashed.

Carter has broken ground for the erection of a double tenement house on the northwest corner of Dundas and Green streets. The new edifice will be 24x30 ft. and 18 ft. posts with two kitchen 14 ft. It will be cottage roof and face on Dundas street.

Rathbun to run his ferry boat without a license at a ferry one trip every hour on Monday Wednesday and Friday and on the afternoons of Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, notwithstanding any by law or resolution to the contrary. The ferry boat will also run on Sunday from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 5 p. m. until sundown, until October 1st, 1890.

In Quebec there are 73 unions with a membership of 2725 and 44 Bands of Hope with a membership of 2414. The Martyr Missions of Canada.
On Tuesday evening next, June 10th, Mr. A. C. Osburn, agent of the Penetanguishene Historical and Antiquarian Society will deliver his interesting lecture on the Martyr Missions of Canada, and the stirring events of the early discovery of Champlain and other explorers of this continent. The lecture will be profusely illustrated by powerful oxy-acetylene light and lantern slides, specially prepared for the purpose. Mr. Osburn is singularly fitted to deal with these subjects having personally visited the scenes of these stirring events. It needs no words of ours to urge upon all, and especially our young people, the desirability of being present and thus securing information concerning the most glorious scenes in the early history of Canada. As Champlain's trip down our own Bay of Quinte will be described in fresh information to be added to this lecture, which is under the auspices of the Deseronto Mechanics' Institute, the members of which are manifesting much interest in securing a large attendance. Tickets will be 15 cents, reserved seats 25 cents, children 10 cents. A large attendance is requested.

Telling of Fire Extinguishers.
Mr. H. E. Love, agent of the Worcester Fire Appliance Company, of Worcester, Mass., was in town last week for the purpose of exhibiting the Worcester Chemical Fire Pail for extinguishing fires. On Saturday afternoon he made a test of this valuable appliance in the presence of many citizens including among them Messrs. J. Bell, Q. W. John McLaughlin, Herbert B. Rathbun, A. A. Richardson, J. A. Davis, R. Rayburn, E. Walter Rathbun, J. M. Poiras, W. W. Kicketts, J. Hoppen, a Tanners representative, etc. A structure was built of boards in which was placed a quantity of wood, all being saturated with two gallons of tar and two gallons of coal oil. The structure was started and, as might be expected, the contents blazed up furiously. At a given signal Mr. Love took a can and almost in the twinkling of the eye he had thrown the contents of the pail on the burning mass, and in fourteen seconds the flames were completely subdued to the satisfaction of all the witnesses. As the structure was so constructed that it was impossible to get into it, it was struck with the simplicity of this new extinguisher and the readiness with which it can be utilized. The pail is made of glass and therefore cannot rust or corrode. It is encased in a tin jacket, which is open near the top so that the contents of the glass pail are always open to inspection. The pail is hermetically sealed by a soft tin foil which prevents evaporation. The pail contains two gallons of chemical liquid which is non-evaporating, non-freezing and therefore always ready for instant use. The liquid is so arranged that it is not injurious to the hands, clothing or the finest fabrics. It is not poisonous, as it may be drunk without any bad effects. The pail can be quickly brought into use, and it is necessary to break the tin foil cover and throw the contents upon the fire. It has been found by leading insurance companies in the United States and as it costs but comparatively little as compared with other extinguishers, it cannot but speedily come into general use.

MINERAL RESOURCES OF ONTARIO.
We have received from Hon. C. Drury, Minister of Agriculture, a copy of the Report of the Royal Commission on the Mineral Resources of Ontario and Measures for their development. This commission was composed of the following gentlemen: John Charlton, M. P., Robert Bell, Wm. Cost Wm. Hamilton Merritt, with Mr. Archibald Blair as Secretary. The Report, which is contained in a volume of 566 pages, is of a most exhaustive character and gives every evidence that the Commissioners were anxious to fulfil their task in a thorough manner. Sessions of the Commission for hearing evidence concerning the mineral establishments occupied in their development, were held at thirty-seven places in the province, including among others, as readers of The Tribune will remember, the town of Deseronto. One hundred and sixty-four witnesses were examined under oath and mines, mining locations and works in their vicinity were visited. Members of the Commission also visited different schools of science, mines, etc., in different parts of the United States. The information obtained in this way is all given in a condensed but practical manner and cannot but prove of great public benefit. In the section of the Report devoted to the geology of the province a systematic account is given of each one of the rock formations. All the latest researches of geological explorers are embodied in the volume, and this portion of the Report leaves little to be required. Even a cursory perusal of the Report will satisfy Ontario possesses great mineral wealth and we can share in the regret of the Commissioners that the mining industry should be making such slow progress. Let us hope that the day is high at hand when Ontario will take its proper place among the states of the world which are gaining in wealth and importance by the skilful development of the mineral resources with which they have been favoured by the Kind Providence. The Commission gave much attention to the iron industry and have gathered a vast fund of information in relation to this branch of economic industry which will, no doubt, be studied and pondered by those of our business men who are directing their attention to the manufacture of the various grades of iron. The Commission also gathered several recommendations which will, we presume, be acted upon by the Legislative Assembly. They consist of it desirable that measures should be taken for the practical and scientific training of all who may engage in the industrial development of the mineral resources of the province for the purpose of making a complete geological survey of the Province and the formation of a museum of geology and mineralogy to represent its rock formations, and that the province should be equipped with an efficient plan for the collection of yearly statistics of the mining and metallurgical industries of the Province. The Report is well illustrated and accompanied by valuable maps. The work of the Commission will give a stimulus to the study of geology, mineralogy and kindred subjects, and must be of great importance in prospecting, mining and the industrial development of the vast mining resources of Ontario.

UNIVERSITY SERVICES AT BATH.
Great preparations are in progress in Bath for the commemoration of the opening of St. John's Church, 95 years ago on the 10th June. At 9.30 a. m. there will be a celebration of the centenary of the opening of the church. The service will be musically rendered, and an historical sermon preached by the Rector of Kingston. The Rev. Mr. Roberts, Musgrave and Mr. J. W. Croft will be at both services. Proceedings will close with a grand concert at night in the Town Hall when F. M. the celebrated comic singer, will make his appearance in Bath. Some of our talented amateurs in Deseronto are talking of going down to help Rurid Dean Baker, and we learn that the Rev. Mr. Croft, Rurid Dean Stanton and his Curate have been invited to assist on the occasion.

We hope to soon see him return fully restored to health. He has been greatly suffering from sore eyes for the past few months.

The ladies of St. Jude's church, Kingsford, will welcome all visitors on Saturday evening, June 7th.

We ask, expect and are determined to have a much large increase for June. It may surprise you, if you haven't been trading with us in May, to hear of so large an increase when everybody is complaining, but it don't surprise us: we are only surprised that it isn't larger, when we think of

The Bargains we Have Purchased for you, and the low prices we have been able to sell them at. Our mammoth stores ought to be crowded from morning till night. We say it without hesitation, without equivocation, and without mental reservation of any kind.

Nobody else can give you such bargains in Shirtings.
Nobody else can give you such bargains in Prints, Muslins and Gingham.
Nobody else can pretend to give you such bargains in all kinds of Dress Goods. Simply because they haven't got them.
As we told you before, we bought a large lot of goods lately at about 45 to 50 cts. on the dollar, part of them from the trustees of lately failed wholesale houses, and part from solvent wholesale houses, who were overstocked, and that is why we have been "making the pace" for trade the past month, and that's why we can save you DOLLARS, and good dollars too, on what you want to buy this month.

WE HAVE BOUGHT

a lot of Black and Colored Henriettas in bond, at such a price that we can sell you these goods at the same prices or lower prices than some Retail men are paying for them. You can save one-quarter of the price of a dress by buying it from us this month. We can say the same thing of our Gloves and Hosiery. We can say the same thing of our Black and Colored Silks. Just opened some novelties

READ

From Our Own Correspondent.

On Friday last occurred one of the most appalling and terrible events that has ever happened in this community. It was announced that Mr. Thomas Cowan was dead, and the whole neighborhood was startled. On enquiry we found that the report was only too true and that in a fit of temporary insanity he had cut his own throat with a razor. He had been suffering from a long illness of desolation and an hour before he had been conversing with Mr. J. C. Hanley and appeared to be perfectly sane and rational, but when discovered was breathing his last. He had been a very precious case of health for the last two years.
Two years ago in the spring he had a severe attack of malaria which prostrated him for several months and last year he had an attack of typhoid fever. A year ago last fall he strained his back from which he never recovered. This spring he appeared to be in better health and was actively engaged in his business. Events had occurred during the last few years which had weighed heavily on his mind and this together with the state of his health for the last two years had evidently affected his mind and in a momentary spasm his reason was unshaken by the sad and fatal result. The sad news was received with deep sorrow by the whole community amongst whom the deceased was well known as an honest and industrious man, a good neighbor, a devoted friend, a dutiful son, a loving husband and an affectionate father. He leaves a widow and family of young children to mourn his untimely loss for whom there is universal sympathy in this hour of desolation and deep sorrow. At the time of writing Mrs.
Cowan was dangerously ill and grave fears for her recovery are entertained.

SUICIDE AT READ.

BELLEVILLE, June 7.—Advices reached the city to-day of a terrible tragedy committed at Read, Ont., on May 29. It is hitherto a man of good reputation, in a fit of despondency severed his jugular vein on the right side of his neck in a stable. He was arrested in the city on May 29 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct, for which he paid a fine of $15. He left the city for home next day with decided intentions of taking his own life. A feeling of despondency, however, seemed to settle on him, and he was never after the same man. He was strangely silent, and his manner was mysterious. He would walk about with his head inclined and arms folded across his breast. Yesterday he complained of the doctor and the doctor's son, who he had been with for some time, and he was taken to the hospital. He passed through the shop for the house of a drainer and left the back door. He went direct to the barn and cut his throat with a razor. His wife was alarmed by screams, and when she found him he was on his hands and knees, with blood gushing from his neck in his neck. He had walked the whole length of the barn and had entered another apartment, of which he locked the door and placed a chair against the door. He left a wife and six children under seven years of age. His remains were interred Tuesday.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

George Burth's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. have been meeting with wonderful success during their eastern tour. They played at Ottawa last week and appear to have completely captured the hearts of the people by the tone of the newspapers. During one of their street parades they met the viceregal carriage containing the Governor-General and the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall. Their royal highnesses kindly smiled the veteran Burth and his company and smiled at the Duke and Duchess. The Press thus refers to the Company: "The George Burth Uncle Tom's Cabin Company are still playing to the capacity of their mammoth hall, the corner of Bismarck and Sussex streets. Still, it is not to be wondered at, for it is the best representation of the old and popular drama that has ever been presented in our city. It is a recommendation to this company that our best class of people are attending it nightly. All parties are well, and the company is sure to do well to visit this entertainment. It is only to be regretted that Mr. Burth did not make his stay in this city longer, as it would be profitable to him and instructive and pleasing to our community." Another paper states: "Geo. Burth's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. has been playing here this week, close their engagement to-night. At the matinee today the tent was packed with ladies and children. It was the general verdict that it is the best Uncle Tom's Cabin company that has ever visited Ottawa. This company is to make a tour of the province of Quebec and are sure that Mr. Burth will reap a golden harvest; and we can recommend this company as being first class in every particular. For we are sure should Mr. Burth make us a return visit with the same company he would certainly have to be a great success."

All was not plain sailing at Ottawa, however, as the following account of an accident which befell the Company will show: "About 12.30 the band of Uncle Tom's Cabin Company had just returned from a street parade and the four horses and wagon were at a standstill when a clap of thunder frightened the animals and they started off at a terrific rate from the tent and rounded into Sussex street. One of the bandmen was in the wagon and he hung on manfully until the wagon struck a heavy stone outside the Grand Review hotel and he was thrown out and fortunately unhurt. The wagon was struck a half dozen telegraph poles and held together until running into a pole it was broken to pieces. The horses were thrown into a thousand pieces and the horses were shortly after stopped. The wagon is badly upset, but the horses were unhurt. This accident, however, will not deter the Uncle Tom's and the covered drages. His Deseronto friends are glad to hear that the fates are so propitious to Mr. Burth and his company."

FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.

Promising your readers in my last that I would give them a description of Vancouver in my next, I will try and do justice to a town only about four years old. Vancouver is very pleasantly situated on a peninsula of land, dividing the straits of Georgia and the bay, an arm of the Gulf of Georgia, and facing the inlet principally. The situation is a perfect one, and it is a wonder of nature. (1) Natural drainage, (2) having the second best harbor with Pacific Coast, (San Francisco ranks first), (3) beautiful scenery surrounding it, (4) and most important of all its commercial importance to the Dominion of Canada. To describe these different advantages thoroughly would tire your readers, but I will endeavor to notice them briefly. First, a natural drainage system is one of the best advantages any city can have. This town site is so situated that the highest elevation in it is near the centre of the city proper and gives a natural slope and fall into Burrard Inlet, English Bay, and what is called False Creek. This creek has from two to two feet water during the ebb of the tide and when the flow raises it to 10 to 15 ft. in depth. Secondly, the harbor is an artery hand locked and no ocean on the ocean effects it in the least way. Any approach towards the city in English Bay you could not see the entrance to the inlet as it is only about thirty five to forty rods wide and the high banks on both sides which look like a fissure in the side of the cliff when you are at a distance from the city. This harbor would accommodate the whole American fleet at one time and could be defended by a small number of men in a few hours. Thirdly, the scenery here is composed principally of mountains and will let you imagine what it is like by saying that within seven miles of the city is a very large range of mountains covered with fir wood, green up half way to the top, then a misty white cloud of vapor and above this will show the poorly white-topped everlasting snow which it always there, or the shining green color of an alpine glacier hanging there glistening in the sunlight. There are the coast ranges of the Olympics, and then to the south east is the Peak of Mount Baker just over the line into Washington which is 14,400 ft. high. This is the kind of scenery you see in the Western World and one which the eye never tires or wearies in looking at as it does in some of the Prairie country of Manitoba. In my trips across the Continent I have never seen one person say that the scenery in the heart of the British Columbia or Washington State ever weary them or made their eyes ache as the Prairies of Manitoba, Kansas, New Mexico, Arkansas and Texas do. Some of the scenery might rise up looking down into a gulch or over a bridge or down the side of a mountain of which you are near the top and running into a U shaped tunnel turned down on its side. Lastly, most important is the commercial advantages of this. This is the key to all China and Japan freight and passenger traffic which comes through Canada. All the fast Orient foreign freight for Toronto, Montreal, Portland, Boston, and New York comes via Vancouver and C. P. Ry. east. Shippers in Yokohama, Japan, are in the habit of saying that they can get their goods to New York via C. P. Ry. as soon as they can get it to San Francisco by the Pacific Mail steamers. Shipload after shipload of raw wool, manufactured silks, crude and refined oil, fancy articles and bales by the thousands of white and linen socks which are made there at one half the cost that they are in the east, are shipped to Vancouver and thence by C. P. Ry. which is to be the best and safest transcontinental road across the continent. When this road has its fast line of steamships running between Japan, China and Vancouver and the fast train service to Halifax, Boston and Nova Scotia, it will be no trouble for any one to circle the world in sixty days. Now as I have described some of the advantages of the town and also one which is only a young town are few. Smelting and reducing works, for precious metals, sugar refining, breweries, foundry and machine, and almost every kind of business are fully represented here. The wharves and warehouses are extensive and belong to the Railway, together with a good many fine substantial stone and brick blocks. Vancouver Hotel and private residences are the officers of the road, on Georgia street, who are located in the place. The steam boat communication are very good from this port. There is a regular daily service to Seattle and Tacoma; a regular line runs to Nanaimo and false coal over from Dunsmuir & Son's coal mines on the island, which are the largest I believe on the Coast. This city has a splendid water supply for domestic use. It is a broad fertile valley being drained and planked with 4x10 inch fir planks, some cedar (but it is being discarded as it is found too soft in the winter) and are lighted by electric and gas lights. The electric light is managed and controlled by the Electric Street Car Co., which furnishes the power and plant for the successful running of the Arc light distributed throughout the city. Mr. William Templeton, wholesale grocer of Belleville, has been a resident of this city since the late war, and is a resident of Deseronto, Mr. Goodmumphy who has been an alderman for a city ward some two years and has been re-elected, with a number of Hastings and Prince Edward people who have come to the Pacific Coast. The last census of this city taken in December last placed the population between 15000 and 16000.

FRANCE EDWARD BOY.

SUICIDE AT MARMORA.

A man named Thos. Lawrence, living in Township of Marmora, in the neighborhood of the late John Lawrence, was found a witness at the time of the murderer's trial, poisoned himself with strychnine on Saturday night and died shortly afterwards. He was thirty years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

On Saturday last he was in the village of Marmora, apparently in a state of health, and returned home. During the night he rose and told his wife he was going to take a dose of salts. Shortly after he began acting in a strange manner and said he had taken a dose of strychnine and asked the housekeeper for some coal oil. When the house was dark for some coal oil, when Mr. Lawrence went to a neighbor's for the coal oil and on his return found his husband dead in bed. The coroner used the strychnine and will hold an inquest.—Intelligencer.

HE WILL FALL IN LOVE WITH HER SURE!

O, the woman of the future! I can see her through a haze, and I just know she is coming minus styes! I can see her through the shadows of the present's misty light, she is coming, she is coming, like an angel of delight. The woman of the future! O, how beautiful she seems! As in fancy I behold her, in the brightest of my dreams: In fancy I behold her, and I long to hear her voice. Ringing down the pleasant valleys, "I am coming, O, rejoice!" She will not be too disdainful, irreverent and proud, But with all the highest virtues and attainments be endowed.

The woman of the future will be modest in her looks. She will sing the sweetest ballads and perse the choicest books. Her sympathies will widen, and her good will be ready to help the poor and the weak. Until the poor shall bless her and the weak shall call her friend.

The woman of the future will not throw away her looks. For the ballroom's giddy pleasures, bringing wrinkles and decay? Nor drink the honeyed nectar of enchantment, long and deep. Sowing seeds of dissipation that in anguish she must reap.

The woman of the future will come to us as pure As the fragrant Easter lilies, and her fame will rest secure; When she comes to dwell among us, in her eyes that light will be That we have never seen on land, nor met yet upon the sea.

O, the woman of the future will be generous and brave, And her honor she will cherish without stain. In joy I wait her coming, she will blossom like a rose, And her heart will find a lover who is worthy to possess.

HE LIVED 123 YEARS.

On Sunday morning, May 11th, 1890, died, at the residence of Mr. Henry Bacon, Dundas, Dundas county, James Page, at the advanced age of one hundred and twenty-three years. Mr. Page was supposed to have been the oldest man in America at the time of his death. He was born in the county of Sussex, England, April 2nd, 1767. At the early age of fourteen he ran away to sea, and he was under life at the destruction of the Danish fleet at Copenhagen, 1801. He also fought under Admiral Lord Nelson off Trafalgar, 1805. In some former newspaper paragraphs his age has been given as one-hundred and eighteen, as near as could be ascertained by the oldest inhabitants; but since the death of the old man, it has been ascertained by an application for a pension which placed him as thirty-four years of age at the time of the engagement of Copenhagen in 1801, which gives his exact age as one hundred and twenty-three years and thirty-eight days. His longevity could be credited to the use of tobacco or stimulants. The last sixteen years of his life were passed under the care of Mr. Henry Bacon, who desired good prices for the old man's zeal and tenderness displayed towards him during that period and his last illness. He gripe fastened on the old man upon him last winter, from the effects of which he never fully recovered and succumbed to a relapse on May 11th. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. M. H. Fishburn in the Lutheran church, Dundas, and the remains were interred in the cemetery at North York. The funeral was a grand one, and the monument should be erected to his memory. He died a pauper.

Customers were served at Cheapside last Saturday, and Four Hundred and Five people were pleased, and got more goods for the same money than they could get anywhere else in the Central District. We are bound to "keep the ball rolling" lively, and this week we have

Some Plums to Offer You.

WE HAVE BOUGHT a lot of Flannellettes at a clearing price, and will sell them for 7 1/2 cts. a yard, just the same as other stores are charging 10c for.

WE HAVE ALSO RECEIVED, per SS. Canadian, our imports of Tonnies Flannels, Real Shaker Flannels, Black Jet and Colored Metal Buttons, beautiful Black Dress Goods, Russell Corsets, Farmers' Satins, all of unapproachable value.

WE ALSO OPENED this week our special imports of Black Marvel-leux Silks, Moire Silks, Brocade Silks and Gros Grain Silks, and can save you 25 to 50 cents a yard on any you may want to buy.

NEXT WEEK WE MAKE A

Special Sale on all Black Dress Goods and Silks.

We show as fine a range and as large a stock as you can find in two or three stores combined, part of our own direct importation, and part of them bought in bond at 70 cents on the dollar. AND THAT IS WHY we offer you elegant $2 Silk Warp Henriettes for $1.25, and the $1.35 value for 90 cents. An All-wool Colored Henriette for 25c a yard, worth 40 cts.
An elegant 52-inch Black Wool Ottoman Sateen, worth $1.50, for $1.15.
We will make a special display of these Black Dress Goods, and shall be glad to show them to you, whether you buy or not, and you can't make $3 to $5 easier than SAYING it on buying one of our black dresses. We haven't room or time to give you all the prices, but they will break the back of any competitor who attempts to reach down to them.

DON'T FORGET the splendid bargains we are giving in all kinds of Staple Goods. A nice Twilled Steam Loom at 64c a yard. A fast-color $c.
Shirting for 5c. A 10c Shirting for 8c. A 12c Shirting for 10c. A good 25c Cottons for 20c. A good 20c quality for 16c. A splendid heavy 9c. quality of Grey Cotton for 7c. 15c. fine Ginghams for 10c. A 12c Gingham for 8c. 10c quality for 6c. 5000 yards of American fast-color Muslins at 5c. a yard.

COLOR DRESS GOODS—12c quality at 5c, and so on up. We bought a large lot of Colored Dress Goods at 60 cts. on the $, and are giving such bargains every day as can't be duplicated in any other store in the Central District. We are not "blowing our own trumpet," simply repeating the statements made by our patrons the past two weeks, and WE KNOW how these goods were bought and how we marked them, and what the other stores paid for them, and we know we are selling them at just the same prices as the other houses bought them at. It won't cost you anything to see them and hear the prices, and if you don't like them we don't expect to sell them to you, but to see is to buy.

WESTBROOK.

From An Occasional Correspondent.

The heavy rain of the past week have been beneficial on high land but in some places low land has suffered and planting has been retarded. The prospect for hay is away above the average; new meadows are looking fine and grain looks healthy.

The warm showery weather of the past two weeks has been very favorable for all kinds of fruit.

Incense has appeared on the apple leaves in this section for the first time. It is a dark brown worm about one half inch long and is found rolled up in a leaf, the leaf withered and

The election passed off very quietly here suggest to our friends on the opposite to ponder on the old maxim that half a loaf is better than no bread. Take all the consolation possible from it and try and become reconciled to another four years of honest government.

And now that it is all over we hope that any differences between the parties will be neighbors will be allayed and all unpleasant feelings banished.

KINGSFORD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss Gordon is visiting relatives near Northport.

The drive commenced passing here on Thursday, 12th inst., and the camps arrived here on Saturday. There are eighty men on the drive. A large portion of the logs on the banks of the river, and all the railroad ties were shipped by train at Tam-worth.

The continuous wet weather of last week has interfered greatly with farming operations, and grain in low lying land will be much injured.

The fall of the drive passed on Thursday,

On Saturday morning last, Smith, who murdered his wife on Feb. 18th, was executed at London. He confessed that he had struck the woman who fell back upon the stove, but he was unable to say whether she had died from the blow or from the fall on the stove. He also stated that the woman was not his wife but that he had eloped with her from England thirty years ago. There was some delay in the proceedings, the rope having become entangled. The prisoner was overcome with weakness and almost fainted and was in that state when he was hanged.

Found.
A bunch of keys found on Tuesday morning may be secured at THE TRIBUNE office by paying the cost of this notice.
Belleville fares.
The stmr. Ella Ross will carry passengers to Belleville on the 25th and 26th inst. at single fares. Tickets will be good to return on the 27th inst.
Children's Services.
In connection with the Salvation Army Children's Services are held as follows: Thursday afternoon, after school; Saturday at 3 p. m., and on Sunday afternoon after the regular meetings of the corps.
Dog Tax.
A great many owners of dogs in town are very dilatory this year in registering their animals and decorating them with the corporation tag. The chief has decided to place a number of their names with a magistrate if not paid by the end of this week.
A Splendid Record.
On Saturday the hands on the chain boiler machine in the lath department of the big Mill of the Washburn Company beat all previous records by cutting 49,000 laths on that day. The names of these experts are: Joseph Marlow, Fred Pongouler, Joe Boyette, Alex. Shandrew and Wm. Murphy. Chief Owens tied the lath. The total cut that day in the lath mill was 92,000. The chain boiler has done thus better work than has ever been done on the new machine.
Excursion To- Night.
The first moonlight excursion of the season takes place this evening. It is under the auspices of the Deseronto Mechanics' Institute who have chartered the good steamer Ella Ross for the trip. Bodily Recovered.
The Kingston Whig states that "the body discovered below Cedar Island on Saturday afternoon turned out to be that of Capt. Thomas Mackie, of the ill-fated ship, Jessie Beck. The current had carried the body about five miles from where the disaster occurred, and that the mit was on his hand so that he could handle the rudder without injury. The remains were conveyed to his late home and were carried yesterday to the grave. The services were conducted according to the A. O. U. W. ritual, many Kingston brothers being in attendance. The body of Macdonald, a seaman in this ill-fated vessel, was found on Monday at Amherst Island. The body of John Mullins was found on Monday at Simcoe Island. Salvation Army Meetings.
The Deseronto Corps of the Salvation Army enjoyed a series of successful meetings during the past week which must have been very encouraging to Capt. Cardiff, the energetic officer in charge, as well as to Lieut. Nicholson and the members of the corps generally. The various parades showed a large number of soldiers and were witnessed by very many people. On Saturday evening a good meeting was held, addresses being given by Major Baugh, Lieut. Wm. S. Scribe, and others. On Sunday there were several excellent meetings the addresses being spirited and edifying. The Banquet on Monday evening was a complete success the attendance being large and all the proceedings of the evening being very interesting and profitable. Capt. John Gale, of Picton, and officers and soldiers from that town, Bath, Bloomfield, Napanee, etc., were present and lent great assistance. It is proposed to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the Army by imposing celebrations early in July, and the Deseronto corps will do its part to celebrate this event in a proper manner.
U. E. Loyalist Memorial Church.
The opening celebration of the interesting and elegant U. E. Loyalist Memorial Church, Adolphustown, will be held on Wednesday, June 25th. Complete arrangements have been made to make this event a success, and the proceedings will be of more than ordinary interest and importance. Divine service will be held at 11 a. m., when a special sermon will be preached by Rev. G. E. Cartwright, M. A. Afterward a substantial dinner will be served in the Church Hall followed by speeches from public men of note, including Messrs. Mohawk chiefs. Among other who have been invited to attend and give addresses are: Sir John A. Macdonald, Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. J. Beverley Robinson, Hon. G. W. Allan, Hon. G. A. Kirkpatrick, Dr. Conniff, J. McIntyre, Q. C., Dr. Rutan, Dr. Oronoyetukha, Chief Annesookish, etc. The steamer Hero will carry an excursion from Belleville and other bay ports, calling at Deseronto at 8 o'clock and the Noble Cutbert will run from Napanee, calling at Deseronto at 3:15. Both steamers will have reduced rates on that day. Tickets for the excursion and speeches 50 cents. A special collection will be taken up at the service in aid of the building fund. God save the Queen.

The Deseronto Driving Park Association have issued their bill announcing a grand meeting to be held on their driving park on Dominion Day, July 1st. The sum of $350 will be offered in purses for the different events, which include the following: Free for All, purse $150, 1st horse $75, 2nd, $50; 3rd, 2nd, best three in five to harness; mile heats. Rathbun, Deseronto; P. McLaughlin, Kingston; M. Hill, Shannonville. Southern.
It was stated last winter that la grippe was the precursor of cholera. An outbreak of Asiatic cholera has occurred at Pueblo in Russia and the deaths have already been numerous. It will be very difficult to check the progress of this dread disease and there is a possibility of its being carried to America. As prevention is better than cure, it is well to only prudence for the resident of Deseronto to exercise the greatest care by removing all garbage and trash regularly from his premises. It is a misfortune that the board of health is tramped in its operations and that it is powerless to assist in this desirable task of improving the health surroundings of our town. There is no dumping ground except the boundary road, and the corporations of Richmond and Deseronto should be indicted for allowing that road to be used for such a purpose. In the meantime let every citizen do his best to conserve the public health.

DISTRICT ITEMS.
Napanee is making considerable preparation for its Dominion Day celebration. A special flower service will be held in the Methodist Church, Bath, next Sunday. Frontenac county council refused to make the annual grant of $300 to the Kingston fair. Tamworth, it is generally acknowledged, would be greatly improved by a coat of paint. Rev. B. W. Day, of Stratford, has accepted a call to the Belleville Congregational church. The Belleville cricket club has been re-organized and is now prepared to challenge all comers. Mr. A. M. Vandusen, of Tweed, was married on Tuesday to Miss Mary Thomas, of Belleville. Mr. John Grant, boot and shoe merchant, Belleville, was married on Tuesday to Miss Mary E. H. Mullins. The owner of Chapman Maid has been offered a thousand dollars for her, but he will hold her for bigger money. "Jack the Jumper" is a fellow who alarms ladies in Kingston by springing suddenly out upon them from alleys, etc. Mr. & Mrs. Isaac Clark, near Violet, celebrated the fifth anniversary of their wedding with becoming festivities. Thos. Wills has resigned the chairmanship of the Belleville harbour commission and is succeeded by George Wallbridge. R. T. Fickett, a member of the associated tea company, Kingston, was fined $20 and cost for selling prize packets of tea thus violating the lottery act. A thirteen year old lad named Elliott was wounded in the leg by the accidental discharge of a revolver with which he and some companions were playing. A joker made a dummy of a man and placed it in a young lady's room in a Kingston boarding house. She was nearly frightened to death by the discovery. The steamer Algerian recently ran from Kingston to Montreal, calling at all the river ports in twelve hours and a half, the fastest time made by a boat of this line in thirty years. ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so send at once and get a bottle of "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething." Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers; there is no mistake about it. It cures Dysentery and Diarrhoea, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, cures Wind Colic, softens the Gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup" for children teething is pleasant to the taste and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale at all drug stores throughout the world. Price twenty five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

VALDIMIR THE MONK.

BY SYLVANUS COBB, JR.

On the following morning Ruric was up betimes and at the breakfast table not a word of the all-absorbing theme was uttered. After the meal was finished the gun-maker went out to his shop and took down from one of the closets a long leather case, in which were two swords, both of the same make and finish, only different in size. They were Toledo blades, and of most exquisite workmanship and finish. Ruric took out the heavier one, which was a two-edged weapon with a cross-hilt of heavily gilded metal. He placed the point upon the floor and then with all his weight he bent the blade till the pommel touched the place with a clang, and the texture was not started. Then he struck the flat of the blade upon the anvil with great force. The ring was sharp and clear, and the weapon remained unharmed.

"By St. Michael, Paul, Moscow does not contain another blade like that. Damascus never saw a better."

Thus spoke the gun-maker to his boy as he balanced the beautiful weapon in his hand.

"I think you are right, my master," the boy returned, who had beheld the trial of the blade with unbounded admiration.

"But," he added, "could you not temper a blade like that?"

"Perhaps, if I had the steel. But I have it not. The steel of these two blades came from India, and was originally in one weapon—a ponderous, two-handed affair, belonging to a Bengal chieftain. The metal possesses all the hardness of the finest razor, with the elasticity of the most supple spring. My old master at Toledo gave me these as a memento. Were I to mention the sum of money he was once offered for the largest one you would hardly credit it."

"How much?" asked Paul, with a boy's curiosity.

"It was a sum equal to about seven hundred ducats."

"And yet he gave it away?"

"Aye—for his gift was but imaginary, while his to him was only commensurate with the good it did him. If he told the truth he loved me, and these gave me as a parting gift, as the best patron I could wish for when making such."

After this Ruric put up the small sword, and then he gave Paul the directions about the work, promising to be back before night. The faithful boy shook his head doubtfully as he heard this promise, but he said nothing, and shortly afterwards Ruric went into the house. Just then Alaric Orsa drove up the door.

Ruric was all ready but putting on his bonnet and pelisse. His mother came into the kitchen. He went to her with a smile upon his face. He put his arms about her and drew her to his bosom.

"God bless you, my mother! I shall come back!" He said this, and then killed her.

"God keep—and—"

It was all she could say.

Ruric gave a moment into her face—then he kissed her again—and again he said:

"God bless you, my mother! I shall come back!"

He dared not stop to speak more. Gently seating his fond mother upon a chair he turned and hurried from the place. In the hall he threw on his pelisse and bonnet, and then he opened the door and passed out.

"Have you a good weapon?" asked Orsa, at the horse started on.

"I have a fair one. I think it will not deceive me," returned Ruric.

"I asked," said Orsa, "because Damonoif prides himself on the weapon he wears. It is a German blade, and he thinks he can cut in twain the blade of any other weapon in Moscow with it."

"I have a good weapon," Ruric said quietly; "and one which has stood more tests than most swords will bear."

And after some further talk he released the peculiar circumstances attending the making of the sword, and his possession of it.

At length they struck upon the river, and in half an hour they reached the appointed spot.

The day was beautiful. The sun shone brightly upon the rippling snow. The air was still and calm. The sharp frost of the atmosphere served only to brace the system. And Ruric threw open his pelisse that he might breathe more freely. He had been upon the ground but a few minutes when the other party came in sight around the head of the river.

As soon as the Count and his second arrived, and the horses had been secured, the lieutenant proposed that they should repair to the building which was close at hand. This was a large open boat-house, which was unused and deserted in the winter, and it was proposed to go in there, because the reflection of the strong sunlight from the bright snow was calculated to blind and blare the eye.

"His what means that?" uttered Orsa, as he saw a ledge just rising behind the river with the air of a cliff.

"Never fear," returned the gun-maker. "Be more than I will bring you danger to himself, for such efforts will find their point in the muscle of my arm."

The party halted when they reached the foot of the rough structure, and the Count threw off his pelisse and drew his sword. Ruric followed his example.

"Sir Count," the latter said, as he moved a step forward, "are we commencing this fight as I stand? You have sought this quarrel from the first. Without the least provocation from me you have insulted me most grossly, and this is the result. So, before God and man, be the result upon your own head."

"Out, lying knave!"

"Hold," cried the surgeon, laying his hand heavily upon the Count's arm. "I have no right to speak thus, for you loved your own when you do it. If you have come to fight, do so honorably."

An angry reply was upon Damonoif's lips, but he did not speak it. He turned to his antagonist and said:

"Will you measure weapons, sir? Mine may be a little the longest. I seek no advantage; and I have one here of the same length and weight as my own if you wish it."

"I am well satisfied as it is," replied Ruric.

"Then take your ground. Are you ready?"

"I am!"

The two swords were crossed in an instant, with a clear, sharp clang.

There was some contact between the two combatants, but not much. Ruric was somewhat heavier. But to a close observer there was a peculiar contrast in the bearing of the two men. That breast swelling out so nobly, and those massive shoulders, made for the seat of physical power, were Ruric's alone to possess. Yet Count Damonoif was no less a man. In the athletic sports of the court he had few superiors, and not many equals. But Ruric never showed his strength there.

Now, for the first time, that contemptuous look passed from the Count's face. As his eye caught his antagonist's position—a stooped, calm, dignified, quiet case of every limb; and as he caught the deep, noisy breath of those expressive eyes, he knew that he had no common amateur to deal with.

At length Conrad Damonoif started back, and a quick cry escaped his lips. His antagonist's point had touched his bosom—

"Aye," said Ruric, "I have not been driven back. Well he knew that his life was his no longer, for the gun-maker had gained it, and—sprang it."

"You fence well," he gasped, struggling to regain his composure.

"You are not a novice," returned Ruric calmly, at the same time allowing his point to drop.

"Come on," the Count uttered, now gathering all his energies for another effort.

And again the weapons were crossed. This time Damonoif was more guarded. Before he had been impelled by his own assurance; but now he was forced to regard his opponent's power. Ruric quickly felt that the other was more careful than at first, and he carried his own point accordingly.

At the twelfth stroke the Count made a feint to the left—then at the throat, and then, with a quick, lightning-like motion, he brought his point to his antagonist's heart. But his meaning had been read from the first by Ruric. The latter caught the motion of the eye, and he saw that his heart was the place looked to. His own movement was almost instinctive. He received his antagonist's sword midway upon his own blade—then moved his arm quickly forward and caught the point under his crossguard—then, with all his power, he wrenched the arm upward and backward, and the Count's sword went flying across the building. It struck the opposite wall with a dull clang, and the next instant it was half buried in the snow.

"Fear not, sir," said Ruric, as the Count started back with both hands raised, "I never strike an unarmed man."

Damonoif's arm fell to his side, and a deep blush of shame mantled his face.

"By St. Paul," cried the surgeon, "your life is forfeited, sir Count; and now you should be satisfied."

"No, no," the discomfited man exclaimed, starting up with rage and mortification.

"That was but a slip," he said. "Two false steps—a cowardly feint. I am not overcome."

"But man of mortality, even now your life is forfeited. He may run you through now if he chooses."

"But he has not," the Count cried, springing to where his sword had fallen, and matching it up.

"Sir Count," here spoke Ruric, calmly, but with marked contempt, "you should not blame me for what I have done, for I have done what you tried to break my sword."

"Then try it again!" Damonoif returned. "Take my sword again if you can."

"Perhaps not," said Ruric, retorted. "But be sure your sword shall be used no more after this day."

"Ha! Brag not, but strike. If you can!"

The conclusion of the sentence was drowned by the clash of steel. At the second stroke the Count made another furious thrust at his antagonist's heart. Ruric sprang quickly aside, and with the whole power of his good right arm he struck Damonoif's blade close to the haft and broke it in twain.

"My other sword! My other sword!" the Count shouted, now blinded by absolute madness. "Oh, give me my other!"

"Hold," cried the surgeon, laying his hand heavily upon the Count's arm. "I have no right to speak thus, for you loved your own when you do it. If you have come to fight, do so honorably."

An angry reply was upon Damonoif's lips, but he did not speak it. He turned to his antagonist and said:

They were headed by the Citizens' Band playing musical selections, they marched in procession to the Newark Reserve, where a large number of Divine service. There was a very large turnout of the brethren and the parade, which was witnessed by large numbers of the Newark Reserve, I. O. F., and a second to none ever seen in Deseronto. The brethren wore their appropriate badges and emblems, and the officers wore resplendent in the regalia recently purchased by the Court. Bro. John Hoppes most efficiently performed the duties of Marshall of the day. Dr. Cronhyte, Supreme Council of the Order, and Mr. E. Botterell, P. S. C. R., also joined the procession wearing the rich emblems of their high office. A vast congregation, including very many regulars, had assembled at the church which was crowded to the door, hundreds being unable to gain admittance. Rev. G. A. Anderson, M. A., Pastor of Christ Church, conducted the service which was of a most hearty and impressive character. The venerable clergyman preached an able and appropriate sermon to the brethren from the text, Epistle of St. James, 1st Chapter 27th verse. The musical portion of the service was very good, the procession was re-formed and returned to the Chambers where the brethren were dismissed. We may state that this church parade took place in compliance with a general resolution issued by the Supreme Council (I. O. F.) calling upon the Order to observe Sunday, 22nd inst., in that way.

Forewell.

On Sabbath last Rev. A. Campbell preached a farewell sermon in the Methodist Church prior to his removal to Stirling. In the morning his discourse was addressed chiefly to the members of the church. A very large congregation was present. He based his remarks upon Philippians, 2nd chapter, verses 3-8, and referred with much force and eloquence to the principles of deep humiliation and final exaltation of the Saviour. The church was crowded to the doors with a vast congregation at the evening service, when Mr. Campbell took as his text, Ps. 77th, verses 11-13. He showed in eloquent terms how the Church was encouraged to persevere in the face of the Jewish church. He reviewed the work during his three years' stay in Deseronto, and inculcated the lesson of going forward in the face of adversity. The addresses of the day will not speedily be forgotten by all who were privileged to hear the words of the Saviour. On Monday morning Mr. Campbell and his family left for Stirling. Rev. A. Campbell proved himself a faithful pastor during his stay in Deseronto, at the present efficient state of the congregation simply testified. His address was received with the greatest interest and he has always gained the hearty co-operation of the officials and members of the congregation in any undertaking on which he entered. It is needless to state that he carries with him the best wishes of the Methodists of Deseronto. The Tribune issues it voices the sentiments of the whole community when it states that he won their respect and esteem in a marked degree. While zealous in maintaining the honour of the great Methodist church, he was ever displayed a spirit of charity and Christian consideration in his dealings with the people of other denominations. Mrs. Campbell fulfilled all the duties of a pastor's wife with rare fidelity, and Miss Campbell, the talented daughter of the paragon, was no less zealous of service at the disposal of the various organizations in any good cause. All unite in wishing Mr. Campbell and his family God speed in their new sphere of usefulness.

OPENING OF THE U. E. L. MEMORIAL CHURCH, ADOLPHUSTOWN.

The 25th June, the day appointed for opening the U. E. L. Memorial Church at Adolphustown, was all that could be desired. From an early hour vehicles came in from all points laden with people dressed in holiday attire. At 10.30 a.m. the Rev. Nellie Cuthbert arrived at the dock with the Napanee contingent, including the excellent choir of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, which took charge of the singing during the day. A few minutes after the Hove came in with a few from Belleville, Deseronto and Picton. She had scarcely cleared away when the Str. Maude brought in an excursion from Kingston and Eastview ports on the bay. At 11.30, the clergy numbering sixteen robed at the passage. The service was conducted by the Rev. Canon Jones, Archdeacon of Kingston, the Rev. C. E. Cartwright, of Kingston, Rev. H. E. Forster, Rector of the Parish, Rev. Dean Dean Loucks, Rector of Picton, Rev. Harold Baker, of Bath, Rev. G. A. Anderson, the Missionary Rector, Rev. Canon Burke, Rector of Belleville, Rev. A. Spencer, Secretary of the Synod, Kingston, Rev. A. C. Nesbitt, Rector of Smith's Falls, Rev. H. B. Smith, assistant Rector of Kingston, Rev. A. W. Cooke of Cataraugus, Rev. D. E. Bogue, of St. John's Church, Belleville, Rev. W. Roberts, of Amherst Island, Rev. A. Jarvis, Rector of Napanee, Rev. H. Johnson, Missionary at Wellington, and Rev. L. Green, of Picton. At the close of the service was introduced by the Rev. D. F. Bogue, the hymn 215 was sung, the whole congregation rising. The first portion of the service was introduced by the Rev. D. F. Bogue and the Psalm appointed for the day 90th and 100th were sung by the choir. The address was made by the Rev. Canon Jones, the Rector of the Parish, the Creed and concluding collects were said by the Ven. Archdeacon of Kingston. Hymn 239 was then sung after which the Archdeacon proceeded with the Ante-Communion service the Epistle being read by Rural Dean Loucks and the Gospel by Rural Dean Baker. The Sermon, a most appropriate one, was preached by Rev. C. E. Cartwright, Chaplain of the Penitentiary, Kingston, the text being 1st verse of the 12th chapter of Genesis. At the conclusion the Ven. Archdeacon announced that the offering would be devoted to the payment of the debt upon the Church. Something over $125 was then contributed in this way. The special gifts and offerings were then formally presented including the deed of the site by Rev. J. J. Watson, Esq., the Church by the Church Wardens, and the altar, font, Bishop's chair and memorial windows by the Rector, the offering being sung after each offering. The Holy Communion was administered the Archdeacon presiding assisted by the Rector and the two Rural Deans; besides the clergy present there were 41 communicants. An adjournment was made to the hall, the old church no longer required as a place of worship, where a sumptuous dinner was spread and enjoyed by hundreds. About 2.30 the vast crowd assembled about a platform erected on the passage grounds when the meeting was called to order by the Rector, who announced that J. J. Watson, Esq., would occupy the chair, who in the course of his remarks, stated that the idea of building a Memorial Church to the Loyalists who settled on this spot over 100 years ago originated with their esteemed pastor, who had quietly and unassumingly carried it to completion. It cost in round figures $8000, half of that amount had been contributed by the people of Adolphustown, $8000 had been obtained from cities and towns in Ontario, the debt then remaining was only $1000, and they had the prettiest church in the diocese. Mr. Watson called upon the speakers, who were the Archdeacon of Kingston, the Hon. U. A. Kirkpatrick, Reserve, and Chief Annontash, Mohawk Reserve, and John Molloy, Esq., Q. C., Kingston. The speech of Chief Annontash was acknowledged to be an able and eloquent effort, well worthy of the occasion. Deseronto, as was remarked, might well be proud of having sent such an eloquent representative. The National Anthem was sung and the crowd dispersed pleased with the day's proceedings. Before leaving we learned that the money received from all services during the day was $400, thus leaving a debt now due upon St. Alban's church, Adolphustown, the handsome country church it has been our lot to see, of $800 before it can be consecrated.

CYCLING AND HEALTH.

The How-Legged Cycler and his Other Dangers.
Dr. B. W. Richardson, in The Ascendancy, points out that unless certain essential conditions are observed cycling is inevitably injurious to health.
He thinks that it is always best to delay the commencement of cycling until the body is closely acquainted with its machinery. Even athletic cyclists who are too much in the saddle almost invariably acquire what may be called the cyclist's figure, which is not graceful and is not indicative of the full possession of perfectly balanced bodily powers. Hence I do not recommend cycling as a pastime of the schools, or of the young men of the exercise, except during holiday times from school, even in the most moderate degree. The systematic pursuit of cycling should never be fully commenced until the rider has arrived at maturity—that is to say, until the age of 21 years has been attained.
The effect of cycling on the spinal extremity of the thorax and forearm is to slightly bend them, the deflection taking place in the arm and forearm, and to bring about an unusual curve of the shoulder. On the lower limbs cycling acts as markedly as it does on the spine and, as the lower limbs perform the greater part of the work, they usually feel the effect of it most distinctly. Riding brings out and exaggerates any latent muscular weakness. The position of the rider, now practically a part of the machine, is fixed to it, and is almost as rigid as itself. In this position of things the thigh bone is placed under unusual strain. The muscles of the leg in the fore part of the thigh are employed in extending or lifting up the leg, great muscular power is required, and the strain is on these muscles every young cyclist knows to his cost, and it is not until they get a kind of extra-natural power that riding is easy. The pressure upon the thigh bone causes bone-lesions.
We still maintain a basic error in the machine by having it so constructed that the pedals of the rider become a fixed part of the machine. This is well shown when the cyclist has to meet a hill. In climbing we push the machine up the hill. We want two essential changes in construction of the machine, one by which we can bring the whole weight of the body into the propulsion; the other by which we can call forth all that muscular power which is used with such effect in walking and running, but is lost in cycling. If these two objects were attained, and thus the rider should not be rigid, they should not be attained, cycling would be just as easy on the machine as it is off it; while the degree of speed that would be rendered applicable to the rider, it is doubtful that is to say, if now in ordinary riding the four miles an hour of the pedestrian is changed into eight, it would then, with the same amount of exertion, be increased to sixteen; while the twenty miles an hour of the fastest rider would be turned into forty, if that were a safe pace to travel.—St. James Gazette.

A REMARKABLE BLIND MAN.
Great Executive Ability of the Sightless Head of a Shipbuilding Firm.
One of the most remarkable blind men in America is John B. Herreshoff, of Bristol, R. I., the head of one of the largest shipbuilding firms—Herreshoff Bros.—in the republic. He lost his sight at fifteen, and is now sixty odd. He supervises the financial affairs of the house and personally superintends every department of his business, employing hundreds of men.
No one seeing him dictating letters, receiving reports, strolling about his shipyard giving orders to his foremen, would suspect his blindness. Not for nearly fifty years has he seen the vessels that ply on the bay; but he carries their outlines clearly in his memory and draws on these for his designs for new craft. He can get an accurate idea of any model or material body by running his hands over it, and of any kind of machinery by hearing a description of it. He has great executive ability, has all the requisites of an eminent inventor, and it is believed that he would have rivaled John Ericsson but for his blindness.
He has built some of the finest steam yachts now afloat, and he feels pride in his calling that has grown with his years. His personality and character are full of interest.

New York Homes.
New York is not a city of homes except for the favored few. These must be able to invest from $50,000 to $100,000 in that "home" and spend from $10,000 to $25,000 a year to keep up the establishment. I live in a modest flat on Sixty-ninth street, west side, about midway between the Hudson and Central Park, paying $40 a month rent for that privilege. The same flat three squares nearer to the Elevated railway station would bring $60 per month. There are solid rows of residences about and being built near me, not one of which can be purchased for less than $80,000 and they run all the way up to $100,000. It costs from $7,000 to $25,000 to furnish one of them appropriately. Strolling up Ninth avenue the other day, I noted a sign-board on a vacant lot between two residences on a side street—Eighty-first street: "This lot and party walls, $35,000." It was only the regulation twenty-four-foot lot, but the cellar had been excavated. Fancy a man in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh investing such a sum in a lot five or six miles from his business! I asked a contractor about the matter. He told me that almost any lot on the west side of Central Park will cost $10,000 excavated, and desirable ones from $15,000 to $20,000. There are solid rows of tenement houses for a high-stop residence is considerable, as the solid rock must be quarried. The team drills are at it in every direction. There are six of these bustling away within pistol-shot of me, and the dynamite explosions of the blaster rattle you up in almost any block corner of Forty-second street. At the present rate of building, within the next five years there will be no acre of vacant ground the whole length of the great Park. Each succeeding year more and more of this land will be more and more expensive. Where will the New Yorker of the future live in Philadelphia? Well, if he does we can't tell him any more than we can living there now.—Pittsburgh Dispatch N. Y. Letter.

An Old-Timer's Belief.
In a great huge handkerchief is seen "Baby" Beckwith, whose title of "Baby" seems rather odd when you think that he is over forty years old—a handsome woman still, and one who will be remembered and talked of to generations to come, for she was one of the famous beauties of the second empire. In a book recently published by Mrs. Beckwith is described as the wonderful American beauty who was present at the opening of the Bazaar Canal. It was said at the time that she was so ingenuous that when a Frenchman asked her "Who is the famous America beauty they are all talking about?" she looked up into his face and said: "I'm the same." She has a fine nose now. She always used to be with her father, a very old man, but he is dead and "Baby" Beckwith is the possessor of an enormous fortune.—N. Y. Letter Kansas City Globe.

HIGH SCHOOL EXCURSION TO TWEED

Saturday, June 21st, the summer holiday, was a gala day with the Deseronto and Napanee high schools. It was met that the longest day in the year was chosen for the event as so much pleasure could not have been possibly crowded into a day of one minute less duration. The event to which we refer was the excursion over the Kingston, Napanee and Western Railway kindly given by Mr. E. W. Rathbun, General Manager of the road, to the teachers and pupils of both these schools. The start was made from Deseronto at 4:40 a.m. when Conductor Parks, of the K. N. & W. moved out of the station with his coach crowded with happy excursionists in holiday attire. On the way to the junction the prettiest girl of the party, formally delegated for the purpose, with appropriate ceremony placed a rich bouquet of flowers on the latter's breast.
This Tattler's representative. From the Grand Trunk at Napanee the party proceeded by N. & W. Railway westward, two coaches being already crowded with the teachers and pupils of the Napanee high school. The start was soon made. Here let us take stock of the party which numbered about 200 in all, including Principal Knight and Mr. Breault and students of the Deseronto high school, Principal Fessenden and Messrs. Wagner, Sills and students of the Napanee school; Principal Cole and the teachers of the Deseronto public school; Messrs.
Bowerman and Black, principals of the Napanee public schools; Messrs. T. H.
Nasmith and J. K. Macdonald, of the Deseronto high school; Messrs. Wm. Irvine and John Edwards of the public school board,— all the members of both boards, we may state, were invited. Dr. Haddock, of Deseronto, who had with becoming prudence been invited to act as Surgeon for the excursionists; Mr. Joseph Hoppes, who figures very largely during the trip; etc., etc. The press was ably represented by Mr. McLaughlin, of the Napanee Express and a Tattler's representative. The two schools soon began to fraternize and the best of relations continued throughout the day. The weather proved delightful, a cool breeze tempering the rays of the sun, and the whole country along the route was clad in the richest verdure and most luxuriant foliage. Such expressions as "how beautiful," "how charming," "what a pretty scene," "it is not exclusively charming," were on every tongue as the beauties of the route were developed. Napanee Mills was soon reached and the Napanee Cement Works became a topic of conversation. At the sight of vast piles of Deseronto bunch wood Messrs. Irvine and Edwards exhibited symptoms of homesickness as they realized the fact that they were now beyond the sound of the Big Mill's whistle. But it is too late to turn back and so on they go with the rest of the party. Newburgh, with its famous high school and its configuration memories, is an object of passing interest.
Kawartha, the pretty Junction Village, is visited and it is needless to say, admired.
The air resounds with the shrills of locomotive whistles as at this point several train meets as they come from Kingston, Tweed and Napanee. Mr. H. B. Sherwood, Superintendent of the K. N. & W., who accompanied the party during the trip, kindly backs the train on the latter bridge so as to enable all to behold from the coaches the beautiful reaches of the Napanee river, thus eliciting choruses of exclamations of admiration as they gaze upon the pretty prospect. On past pretty Varty Lake, Moscow, growing Enterprise and other villages, a halt is made for a few minutes a mile or so this side of Tanworth where as luck would have it, a vast swarm of bees is clustered in the trunk of a grand elm tree. Arrived at Tanworth, twenty-five minutes is given to take in that village. The party avail themselves of the privilege, and stores of pea-nuts, candies, chocolate creams, etc., are purchased. All aboard, and the train proceeds to Erinville, Marlbak, Larkins, and all eyes are delighted with the broad expanses of Beaver Lake, White Lake, Marl Lake which reflect the gleaming rays of the sun. The substantial bridges on the East and West Moira are much admired and critically examined.
Steeo Lake in all its loveliness stretches out before our eyes and a few minutes after Tweed the terminus of the line is reached.
As the inner man is beginning to assert his rights it is decided to picnic at once, and a beautiful grove over the C. P. R. bridge and on the shore of Lake Stoto is selected for the purpose. There in groups, and under the shade of grand trees, the contents of well filled baskets are dished and enjoyed.
This Tattler's man here again coming in for kind attention having been invited by the suppliers to share the contents of the largest basket on the ground. After dinner Tweed was explored by all the company who expressed themselves pleased with the importance as a business point. Its numerous substantial brick blocks evidence enterprise.
The youngest even in our party expressed themselves surprised that it is not yet incorporated. Many ascend the hill to visit the large handsome stone church recently erected by the Roman Catholic congregation, and are rewarded by a splendid view of the underlying village, lake and rich expanse of pretty country. Electrician Hoppes kindly invites us to take of ice cream at a well managed restaurant. A fractional visit is paid to the well equipped office of the N. & W. but yet editor is away on business. At 10.10 p.m. on the arrival of the C. P. R. express from the west our train starts for return trip. All settle down to enjoy, with unsatisfied gaze, the fair prospects which are again successively presented to the eye along the road. The substantial character of the neatly kept stations all built of terracotta material elicits favourable comment from our friends Irvine, Roach, Edwards, and Supt. Sherwood must have been greatly pleased as he listened to the many deserved compliments passed upon the excellent character of the roadbed and the equipment of the line. The critical eye of this Tattler's representative is directed to many places cuts have been widened, new sidings laid, ditches enlarged and cleaned out, more ballast spread, and other changes effected which but increase the efficiency of the line. But these are forbidden subjects on such an occasion. All are out for mirth and fun, and the party are especially good time in their car. Principal Fessenden and Knight and their assistants enter into the spirit of the occasion and endeavour to make all their charge happy. As a late was made during the day these learned gentlemen study the mineralogy and geological formation of the country, and Mr. Irvine has spare moments in gathering botanical specimens, many of which he finds are rare in the front. Tomorrow, Messrs. Nasmith and Roach, for the nonce forget their exalted position as high school trustees, and are very philodendrus in mischief, but we forbore to further expose them to the danger of certain lectures; suffice it to say that the young ladies voted them jolly good fellows and the best of company. Dr. Haddock performs his professional duties with the closest attention and as time, we trust, will prove his well deserved success. As for Mr.
Joseph Hoppes, he was the lion of the hour; he contributed more than his share to the pleasure of the day. The Napanee pupils were more sedate than their Deseronto comrades, but enjoyed themselves as all the same.

Conductor Richardson and driver Charles Kivry gave the excursionists a very rapid ride from Tanworth to Napanee, the latter train having been half an hour late at Tweed. After disembarking at Napanee, the excursionists were met by Mr. J. B. P. and Supt. Sherwood, who were waiting for the very last passenger from the train, returning cheers were given for Mr. E. W.
Rathbun, Mr. J. B. P., Mr. Sherwood, Mr.
Fessenden and the Deseronto school.
The Deseronto contingent arrived home at 5:20. It is unnecessary to state that they were grateful to Mr. Rathbun for his generous entertainment and all expressed themselves as benefited by the outing, while the amount of practical information they obtained concerning the large region of country traversed by the K. N. & W.
Ry must prove of great value to all who attended the trip. We cannot recall an unpleasant episode during the day's proceedings.

ST. MARK'S CHURCH NOTES.

The Ladies' Aid Society desire to express their hearty thanks to their many kind friends, who by their contributions to the recent bazaar on the 19th inst., have rendered a presence and generous patronage united in making their annual event an unequalled success. The sale netted the handsome sum of nearly $150.

The attendance last Sunday morning was unusually small, many of the congregation, whither the Foresters marched to a special service. The morning sermon at St. Mark's was upon the subject of "Free," while that in the evening founded upon the first lesson, portrayed the reciprocal duties of parents and children, and dedicated to the history of the meek and lowly Jesus, the venerable high priest Eli.

On the 24th inst was the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist. It was observed with evening. The festival is remarkable as being the only one on which the birth of a saint is commemorated. The festival is held in England, no fewer than 300 churches are dedicated in his name. The festival is of great antiquity and was certainly celebrated in the fifth century.

Holy communion next Sunday at 8:15 a.m.

TOWN COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on the evening of Thursday, June 19th. All the members were present and the Mayor presided.

The Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The Clerk read a communication from Henry Walker asking permission to use part of the street opposite his premises for building material and this was granted on the usual conditions; also one from Mr. A. G.
Knight directing attention to the necessity of laying boardwalk on portions of Stanley street, etc., this was referred to the Streets Committee. The following petitions were received, viz: from Chas. Dryden and others asking for a drain on Thomas street, west to St. George street; from Bogart Bros. and others for a six foot boardwalk on the west side of St. George street; from R. H. Bogart and fourteen others for the extension of the boardwalk on St. George street to Maple avenue; from W. H. Bruton and fifteen others for the removal of the early closing by-law; from E. J. Edwards and one hundred others for the extension of the boardwalk on Dundas street to the cemetery; from the Deseronto Driving Park Association for a grant of $100 to aid in defraying the expenses of keeping their park attractive promising to keep it open to the public every evening in the summer for games, etc.

On motion of Reeve Aylsworth, seconded by Deputy Reeve Rathbun, an account of $50 W. G. Eggar and Dr. Newton for attendance upon a sick person was ordered to be paid.

Councillor Richardson, chairman of the Streets Committee, reported that the same had been expended on the streets up to date.
On motion of Councillor Richardson, seconded by Councillor Geddis, the report was received and adopted.

The Reeve reported that the County Council had granted $150 for the library of the high school; also that equalization had been paid at the rate of $1000. The Reeve's exertions on behalf of the town were approved.

The Council then proceeded to deal with the various petitions. Those relating to boardwalks were referred to the Streets Committee.

Councillor Geddis moved the repeal of the early closing by-law. He said it was not fairly carried out, many traders breaking it with impunity, and that it created hardship upon the public. He thought it would be no objection. Councillor Richardson stated that when first proposed he had been unfavourable to the law, but he thought it had been fairly well carried out and that he observed it there would be no objection. Councillor Richardson stated that the only objection to the bylaw seemed to arise from the fact that it was carried out at the expense of the public.
He had learned to trade earlier than formerly.
After further discussion to the same effect the Council decided to carry the bylaw and Deputy Reeve Rathbun, that the petition be laid over until the next meeting, and that Chief Ganyou be directed to see that the law is observed by all, and this motion was carried.

The petition for a boardwalk to the cemetery was then considered. Councillor Baker objected to the expenditure when there was so much required for other purposes. Councillor Geddis asked if the Council had power to make such an expenditure outside the corporation limits. Reeve Aylsworth had favoured a grant last year, but the people were not so well prepared to carry this additional burden this year; he favoured, however, a substantial grant. On motion of Deputy Reeve Rathbun, and that by Councillor Baker, the petition was laid over.

On motion of Deputy Reeve Rathbun, seconded by Councillor Richardson, a sum of $100 was granted to the Driving Park Association on condition that the park be open to the public for games, etc., on the evening of the 24th inst. Councillor Baker and Streets Committee, asked for instructions.

Councillor Cronk objected to a new board walk for the west side of St. George street, others pointed out the necessity for walks in new quarters of the town. Reeve Aylsworth moved, seconded by Deputy Reeve Rathbun, that the expenditure on streets this year be limited to $1,500 and that the streets committee report how the balance is spent.

On motion of the Council adjourned.

Reeve Aylsworth moved, seconded by Councillor Richardson, that an appropriation be made for watering streets on the same condition as last year.

On motion the Council adjourned.
